LYNN SIMS (left) chairman of the Carmel Valley Garden Association Flower Show and Garden Tour brings "The Golden Rake" to the home of Mrs. John Powers (right). The Powers garden on Country Club Way is one which will be open to the public between 2 and 5 p.m. on Saturday. Little Christine Sands had been making a preview tour with her mother and decided to help hold the Golden Rake, one of which will be displayed outside of each garden on the tour to help direct visitors.

Garden Show opens Saturday

Gardens which will be included in the CV Garden Association Tour on Saturday will be marked with a Golden Rake, Lynn Sims, general chairman of the show, has announced.

Another home has been added to the list which will be open for viewing. The garden of Mr. and Mrs. John Dryden on Miramonte Road has been added to the list of those which will be open to the public on Saturday. Hours of the tour, which is free, are from 2-5 p.m. A map showing the garden locations will be available at the show, held in the multipurpose room of Tularcitos School from 1 to 7:30 p.m.

Gardens included are those of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zarski on Garzas Road, Mr. and Mrs. John Power on Country Club Way, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stuckens on Country Club Drive, Mr. and Mrs. John Dryden, Miramonte Road, Tularcitos School Outdoor memorial classroom, and the grounds at Robles del Rio Lodge.

In addition to the usual lovely arrangements and horticultural displays at the school the Monterey Saikei Society will have their first exhibition of small landscapes made up of plants used in a temple Bonsai and Bonkei manner.

"The Time of Flowers," theme of this Sixth Annual Garden show, is open to the public free of charge.

CUSD Board meets for more cuts

School Board members of CUSD will meet tonight in Brey Hall of the high school at 7:30 to continue discussion of proposed "cuts" to the budget. To date $35,300 has been sliced from the 1966-1967 school budget but a great deal more must be eliminated before the $170,000 deficit is covered.

Undoubtedly the library program will be studied further. It was continued at the April 27 meeting after a petition with 203 signatues was presented requesting consideration of retention of a high academic program of advanced classes, books and qualified teachers.

No action was taken by the board on the cafeteria program at the last meeting, although there was discussion on the matter, so it may be continued tonight.

Shortening of the high school schedule may also come under fire, since time ran out before it could be brought up.

The adult school budget is scheduled on the program after the proposed budget cuts.

The last two regular school board meetings have had 250 observers in the audience with about 100 attending the special study session in between. All meetings are open to the public.

Pool: opening definitely set for coming weekend

The Carmel Valley Community Center Pool will open on schedule this weekend, according to a report phoned to the Outlook yesterday from Bob Jones, president of the Community Center Board.

There had been some question as to whether it would open as planned because of electrical work which had not been completed and still had to be approved by the building inspector. However, Jones and Bill Conlan are working on the problem and expect to have everything under control in time.

Until the close of school the pool will be open weekends only, from 12:30 until 4:30 p.m. Rates of admission are as follows:

Family pass	$10
Student pass	$5
Adult pass	$7.50

Individual swims:

Adults	65¢
Children	35¢

When summer vacation commences, there will be swimming every day from 1 to 4:30 p.m., with swimming lessons held in the morning hours as in the past.

Zoning Board to consider Valley items on Thursday

Several Carmel Valley items are on the agenda for the Board of Zoning Adjustment meeting tomorrow morning.

A continuation of the hearing on a use permit for the American Lutheran Church to construct a school and church building on two acres at Via Petra and the Carmel Valley Road will be heard at 10:20.

Although the Lower Valley Advisory Board approved the application there has been considerable local opposition to the construction.

In clarifying the terminology used, a spokesman for the church stated that the school building would not be used during weekdays, but only for adult and juvenile religious education on Sundays. It is against the policy of the American Lutheran Church to conduct religious training as a regular weekday school, he continued, and the church does not envision any change in policy.

A continuation of the Green Meadows request for a variance to allow an accessory use to resort hotel which was continued from a previous meeting is scheduled for 10:20. However since the Planning Commission has already approved a change in zoning to allow this use and the matter is on the agenda of the Board of Supervisors for May 24, it is expected that nothing further will be done at the Zoning Board's meeting tomorrow.

A request for a parsonage at St. Dunstan's Church is set for hearing at 11:05.

CHUCK (JUNIOR) PARSONS of Carmel gets a good luck send-off from his daughter, Linda, prior to the beginning of the big USRRC race at Laguna Seca on Sunday. Chuck racked up 16 points to take the lead in the national point championship rating and placed second overall in the race itself. Parsons took home $2,900 as his share of the money. First place went to Charlie Hayes of Rockville, Md. who broke last year's track record set by Jim Hall in his Chaparral by streaking through the 152 miles in 1 hour and 35.27 minutes.

Letters to the Editor

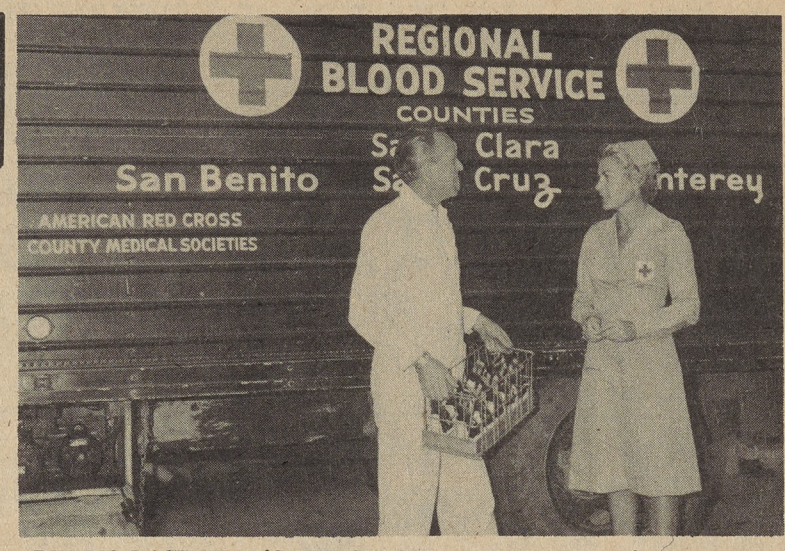

Editor:

I just wanted to let you know that snagging fish in the Carmel River and its tributaries is illegal, but often practiced. I hope you meant catching not snagging in the caption of your front page picture about opening day.

Sincerely,
By Cordrey

(Editor's Note: Thank you for your quick response to the word "snagging." In this case we meant it as catching, but you are quite right about the amount of actual illegal snagging that does occur.)

DURING LAST YEAR'S RED CROSS BLOOD DRAWING, firemen Don Laird and Red Cross volunteer Ruth Allaire stored the bottles of drawn blood in the refrigerated truck which served the four counties of San Benito, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz and Monterey. May 26 is the date to circle for the next blood drawing. The hours are from 3 to 6:30 p.m. at the CV Firehouse on Via Contenta. Previous donors will be contacted by a Red Cross phone committee, but all residents are urged to donate blood at this time.

Potluck dinner for Middle School parents

The Parent-Faculty Club of Carmel Middle School will meet on Tuesday, May 17, for a pot-luck dinner in the school cafeteria. It will be the last general meeting of the year and will combine a fund raising event with a social evening.

Dinner will begin at 7 p.m. and each parent (or pair of parents) will bring a main dish of anything from tuna fish to Peking duck. A one dollar charge will be made per person for the dinner. This will gather money in the treasury and enable the club to pass on a budget for next year's Parents Club.

The Middle School Glee Club and Orchestra will furnish musical arrangements during the dinner hour.

Middle School parents have received invitations through the mail. Club officers request that the questionaire portion be returned to your youngster's home room as soon as possible.

RX FOR VALLEYITES AT NESSEL'S DRUG STORE

What are the two most common questions asked at Carmel Valley's Bowers' Pharmacy?

"What can we get to relieve poison oak itching?" is the Number 1 question, according to owner Maury Nessel of the local drug store.

"The next most common question," he reports with a smile is from tourists who drive over the Los Laureles Grade Road, turn East to the Village and come in, looking lost, to ask, 'How much further is it to Carmel?'"

Keeping track of about 7,500 different drug items in the store is all in the day's work for Nessel. He prefers this professional side of the business, which explains why the comfortable local pharmacy hasn't shot off in all directions to offer everything from soup to nuts like so many big chair operations.

WIFE, HELEN

His wife, Helen, is in charge of their fine lines of cosmetics, which make up a good part of the rest of the business. She spends about three days a week assisting in the store. Their other chief assistant is Barbara Mark.

The name "Bowers Pharmacy" is a carry-over from the late Myron Bowers, an old friend, from whom the Nessels bought the store six years ago.

Bowers and Nessel had gone through the University of Minnesota together. Nessel was from Rush City in Northern Minnesota where his father owned the local hardware. His experience working in the local drug store during high school days had decided him to be a pharmacist.

After the two college friends graduated from the University of Minnesota College of Pharmacy in 1925, they decided to escape the 40° winter temperatures, so they headed for Florida.

TO SAN FRANCISCO

After a comfortable winter working there, they jaunted across the country to San Francisco. Nessel liked California and stayed until 1929, as a pharmacist in a number of San Francisco stores.

The two friends joined up again just about as the Depression was starting, and bought a store in the North Shore area of Chicago. Nessel recalled that, when they heard rumors that banks might close, they hurried and paid all bills. But the banks closed before any of these checks cleared, so they not only lost what they had in the bank but had to make good on the checks as well.

Maury and Helen met in Chicago and were married there. She is from St. Joseph, Missouri, but went to the University of Illinois.

"I had always wanted to get back to California," Nessel recalled. "And after being held up twice -- a very funny feeling --, we were glad to leave for Carmel Valley." This was when friend Bowers became ill here, and the Nessels moved to Carmel Valley to help.

They own a home on Lilac Lane, where Mrs. Nessel grows beautiful roses. Maury says he is the laborer around the yard, but the truth is that a 6 1/2-day week doesn't leave much time for outside hobbies. He makes time for the Lions Club, of which he is a director.

Helen, besides gardening and helping in the store, acts in plays at Carmel's Circle Theatre and recently took a creative writing course from Maxine Shore at night school. She is a director of the CV Chamber of Commerce.

Their daughter, Jean Cahill lives in Monterey, and son, Reed is a writer on the Palo Alto Times.

MAURY AND HELEN NESSEL have kept their pharmacy simple and uncluttered and basically a drug store. Rather than expand into a "supermarket" like so many, they concentrate on prescriptions, drugs, cosmetics, greeting cards. . . .and giving friendly service to Carmel Valley.

Lively productions slated for White Oaks 8th season

The eighth summer musical season at White Oaks Theatre in Carmel Valley will run throughout the summer months, June 23 through September 11. Members of the theatre's Training Centre for the Performing Arts will be involved in a number of musical and comic presentations.

Season tickets are now on sale for musical productions Thursday through Sunday nights at 8:30 p.m. The four major presentations are:

"Carousal," Rodgers and Hammerstein's American classic revolving around the romance of the tough Billy Bigelow and the gentle Julie Jordan. Familiar songs are "If I Loved You," "You'll Never Walk Alone," and "June Is Bustin' Out All Over" among others.

"Once Upon A Mattress," the musical-comedy interpretation of the fairy tale story of "The Princess and the Pea" which White Oaks has revived after its presentation three summers ago of the Broadway hit which gave Carol Burnett her start.

Anthony Newley's "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off," a great diversion from the musical-comedy "norm" which brought with its long Broadway run a brilliance and charm all its own, and made a hit of "What Kind of Fool Am I?"

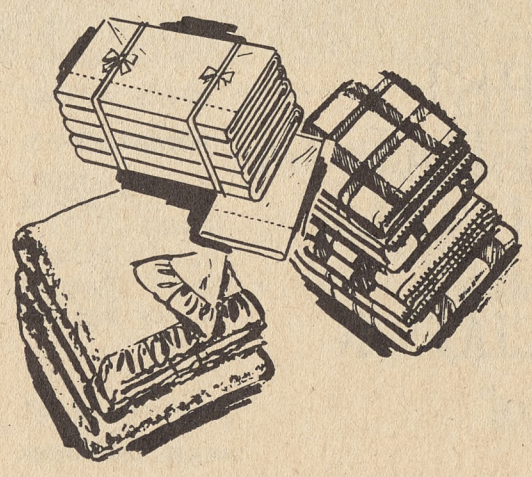

"Cosi Fan Tutte," the classic comedy work of Mozart which tells the tale of the faithlessness of women and the foolishness of men.

Also scheduled for the summer are two one-act musical plays to be presented on Wednesday nights at 8:30. In addition, four male members of the summer company will be performing "Beyond the Fringe," the British revue which was an American sensation, on Tuesday nights at 8:30.

A new Fantasy Players children's theatre production is slated as usual for Sunday afternoons at 2:30.

ZAP! WHAM! POP! The Aps took over

M.I.T. names David Erickson top No. Calif. regional scholar

David A. Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Clapper of Carmel, a senior at Carmel High School, has been chosen as the Northern California Regional Scholar of the M.I.T. Class of 1970. This distinction is granted each year to an M.I.T. applicant from the northern California area by a committee of local Institute alumni, and results in an M.I.T. scholarship award. The committee, headed this year by William J. Cassidy, Jr., interviewed candidates in early March and announced its decision on April 15.

DAVID ERICKSON

David will graduate from Carmel High School in June after having compiled an excellent four-year academic record. He has been a member of the varsity and junior varsity football teams and the varsity and lightweight track teams. A bandmember for four years, he also has served as the student body president. He plans to study mathematics and physics at M.I.T.

The M.I.T. Regional Scholarship Program is nationwide in scope. David will be joined on campus in Cambridge next fall by twenty-five regional scholars from around the country. The Regional scholarships constitute but one part of M.I.T.'s extensive program for meeting the established financial need of all of its undergraduates.

Church-in-Round sponsors Festival & Flea Market

An International May Festival and Outdoor Flea Market will be held at the Forest Theatre on Saturday, May 14. Sponsored by the Church-in-the-Round, the afternoon of events will begin at 12 noon.

On stage will be Maypole dancing, international folk dancing featuring the DLI Balkan dancers, the Fremont Junior High Folk dance group, Nancy Lang's modern folk dance, Mexican dances and a rock and roll dance band contest.

Other attractions will be folk singers, Lisa Buckenroth, and Bea Hill, fortune teller Lois Sawyers, Poncho the burro with cart and a jumping frog contest.

Under the Oaks and Among the Cacti

By Mildred Hattan

Mr. and Mrs. James V. Howie moved recently to their new home on North Mission in Carmel. Their many friends will be happy to know that their future plans include building another home in the Valley and that until then they are close enough for frequent visits. The attractive Howie home at 88 Robles del Rio has been leased to Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Alm III who are former residents of San Jose. Fred, an attorney, has recently opened a branch of the Travelers Insurance in Salinas. Rita, a former high school teacher, is busy at home with their five year old daughter, Susan, and an eleven year old son, Mitchell. Welcome newcomers!

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Todd have returned from a fishing trip to Mexico. There in San Felipe, a fishing village in Baja California, they spent ten days in their campers with Lloyd's brother and wife, Fred and Sheila Todd of San Jose. Due to a shortage of lumber, the natives have conquered the housing shortage by cutting stalks of the occitilla (buggy whip) plant from which they build their houses and fences. The cracks are packed with mud so the houses and fences take root and continue to grow. The blossom-covered roofs and fences are a sight to behold. The foursome were fishing for sea bass but had their best catches of corvinas and trigger fish. From San Felipe, they traveled north to the Salton Sea where all the surrounding desert country was ablaze with spring cactus blossoms. It was here that our travelers experienced a terrible sand storm so home to Aliso Road and sunny Carmel Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Harris of Pacifica, California, took first place honors at the Tuesday night meeting of the Valley Bridge Club at the Community Center. Other awards of the Carmel Valley Duplicate Bridge Tournament were Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Gravelle, second place, and Mrs. Basil Frobisher and Mr. Walter Patton Sr., third place.

The Youth Choir of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel were given a trip to the Carmel Beach last Sunday afternoon as a thank you for the rehearsals and performances given during the Easter holiday season. Among the adults transporting the group and assisting with their wiener and marshmellow roast were their director, Miss Sherrie May, their accompanist Mrs. Sunzah Park and her daughter, Anna, Mrs. J.L. May, Mrs. Frank Bresk, Mrs. Walt Mauzey, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beckstrom. Guests welcoming the eastern couple included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baudouin, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Krausgrill of Salinas, Miss Lucile Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jodoin, Mrs. Mamie Harris, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Havelka.

The classmates of Vickie Bennett were invited to share her twelfth birthday festivities with a swimming party after school last Friday at Rancho del Monte Resort. The hungry swimmers were served a hamburger supper at the Club and then returned with Vickie to her home on Laurel Drive. There the girls donned granny dresses, were served the beautiful birthday cake decorated with a Hawaiian theme, and spent the rest of the evening dancing to Beatle records. Each of the girls had brought a sleeping bag so the party mood carried over until their parents called for them after breakfast the following morning. Among those invited were Jenny Thornburg, Holley Leslie, Sandy Sweiss, Jennifer Kirksey, Alba Arboleda, Susy McCabe, Sara Senger, Diane Klech, Linda Klemek, Lori Smith and Vickie's sister, Sally. Assisting with party plans were Vickie's mother, Joan, and her grandmother, Mrs. Ethel Rexford of Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Seung Paik Park entertained the members of the adult choir of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel with a Korean dinner Tuesday night at their Monterey home on Via Buena Vista. The exotic and delicious oriental dishes served with chop sticks had taken Sunzah a day and a half to prepare and the rare treat was very much appreciated by the guests. Dessert was a cake topped with "Thank you Choir," the sentiments of Sunzah, their director, and her husband who is accompanist. Attending were: Mr. and Mrs. George Sackman, Mr. and Mrs. James Ziegler, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beckstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scott, Mrs. Mabel Love, Rev. and Mrs. Don Johnson, Lt. and Mrs. Philip Ridgley, Mr. and Mrs. John Woods, Miss Wendy Hughes and Mrs. Ginny Keller.

Co-op Nursery School students go on field trip

The Cooperative Nursery School enjoyed a field trip arranged by Mrs. Bambi Nicholson to the farm of Mr. Harold Townsend in the Lower Valley. Accompanying the children were: Mmes. Eva Doelman, LaVonne Kern, Florence Johnson, Arlene Carter, Pat Erskine, Pattie Blatnik, Edwina Lake, and Betty White. Mr. Townsend who is a veritable pied piper of the animal kingdom raises many varities of animals at his west Carmel Valley Road home. Many of them are donated to research and many find their way to become the prized pets of children. The toddlers were enthralled with his animal collection, among which were guinea pigs, quail, the rat who watches television and the parrot who sings opera! Incidentally, Spring house cleaning came to the Nursery School quarters thanks to the organization of Mrs. Cynthia Natone. Walt Mauzey has recently painted the walls a fresh yellow and the furniture will soon be done over in shades of orange and aqua. The report given on the painting progress last Tuesday evening at the business meeting at the Country Club Drive home of Mrs. John Anderson promised completion date by Saturday.

Coward's 'Hay Fever' opens Friday at Studio Theatre

"Hay Fever," by Noel Coward, will be presented as the final offering of the winter season at Carmel's Studio Theatre-Restaurant. Producers Betty Hackett and Royden Martin will open the Coward comedy this Friday, May 13, at 8:30.

Typical of many Coward plays, this one also depends on the characters and their relationships more than story. It brings together a family quartet, of a writer father, his wife, a retired actress, and their badly-mannered son and daughter. Each has invited a weekend guest to the country home which adds a middle aged diplomat, an intense young woman, a flapper and an athlete to the cast.

Michael Keller is directing "Hay Fever" and Ruth Jordan Allan has designed the sets.

Dinner at the Studio is served from 6:30 to 7:30 prior to the 8:30 curtain.

Popular MPC Swim-Dance show May 12-13

Some 45 students will participate in "Way Out and Way Back," fourth annual "swim-dance" show slated for presentation on the evenings of May 12 and 13 in and around the Monterey College pool.

The show will be staged at 8:30 each night, with nominally priced tickets to be sold at the gate.

The show, originated by Miss Elliott and Miss Smith in 1963 as a public demonstration of the work of synchronized swimming and modern cance classes at the college, has played to packed bleachers every year.

Teachers offer more than lessons at All Saints' Day School

A visit to All Saints' Day School points out the close personal relationship between students, teachers and headmaster, Father Peter Farmer. Classes are limited at 20 and in many cases instruction crosses grade levels so there is a spirit of unity between the ages.

The school, on seven and a half acres of land on the Carmel Valley Road near Schulte, is sponsored by All Saints' Parish in Carmel. It started in Pacific Grove, in the fall of 1961 with 18 students in kindergarten and first grade. At that time it was called Bishop Kip School, a title which still lingers as a "nickname."

The school was then moved for a year and a half to the church buildings at All Saints' where a second grade was added. The grade level to sixth was completed after the move to the hospital annex where they remained until last May, when the school occupied the new building in the Valley. Now, they have an enrollment of 101 students.

Father Farmer feels the advantage they have as a private school brings teachers with special talents who can not teach in public schools, because of not having California credentials. In this way, persons who have taught in other states are eligible and may bring fresh ideas to the teaching plan. Foreign languages may be taught by persons who were born or raised out of the country and have a native knowledge of the tongue.

Foreign language instruction begins at the kindergarten level with Latin being taught at the fourth grade level. Miss Beverly Lyon, third grade teacher, instructs her class in French, while Mrs. Ann Berthoin, Miss Ann Von Maur and Mrs. Charles Cowan work with other classes in that language. James Kohnke teaches Latin in addition to being the fourth grade teacher.

In some respects the school is similar to a non-graded situation, in that teachers are free to choose their curriculum to fit the needs of the students, under the guidance of advisor Miss Eleanor Ziel who meets with them every two or three weeks. The reading program, however, is the same as the state, with supplements from library and reference books.

The library gains a volume each time a student has a birthday. The birthday is marked by the presentation of a new book by the child who is celebrating.

Although the school is sponsored by All Saints' parish, less than half of the students are Episcopalian. A brief chapel period marks the beginning of each school day, but this is the only formalized religious training.

Celebrating the first year in their permanent location in Carmel Valley, the school has grown tremendously since its inception in 1961.

ABOVE RIGHT—Kindergarten children thrilled with their ability to read. Their teacher, Mrs. John Hood Powell, holds the book so the class can see the illustrations while David Henderson reads to them. The kindergarten children are in school from 9 until noon each day. First and second graders are through at 3 p.m. and all the others remain until 3:30.

ABOVE—Third graders, Doug Thompson, Martha Stein and Alison Downes perch on an otherwise prohibited seat to show off some of their projects. Doug tapes up informative graphs on the relationship of sun and earth. The adobe pueblo was a class project with special jobs assigned to each child. There were brick makers, brick layers, pueblo builders, ladder builders and a chief with drums who keep the crew on the job. The youngsters brought in adobe clay from the river to make the mortar and cover the bricks. In the course of construction a tremendous amount of Indian lore was absorbed by the class.

RIGHT—One of the favorite forms of exercise at All Saints' School is soccer, which both boys and girls play. In addition to interscholastic games, the teams play with other Monterey Schools who have developed soccer as an elementary school sport.

the peak of perfection. Clyde's green thumb has produced wondrous results of over one hundred colors and varieties.

A surprise birthday luncheon was given Friday honoring Mrs. David Anderson at the home of David's mother, Mrs. Ruth Anderson, Flight Road. Attending were Mrs. Thomas B. McKiernon, Mrs. Jay Nishikawa and Mrs. Larry Busick. After Teka, the collie and a canine friend had destroyed the flower bed that was to have furnished the table centerpiece, ingenious Ruth put together a coral blossom using the Irene geranium, a head of red lettuce, and a low Mexican pottery bowl. The results inspired compliments. The guests also admired the clever ideas that converted Ruth's house from a stable to a charming home. The party was a happy occasion marking the return of Ruth from three weeks at the Christian Science Benevolent Association Sanitorium in San Francisco.

Combining the old and the new in decoration

By Belva Sanford. F.A.I.D.

The twentieth century "Renaissance Man" has a wealth of design from which to select his furnishings and he can coordinate, or create, a special background for himself that is individual, personal, and suited to his interests. Few people wish to live in a tightly traditional "museum" type room, so most of us select the best of the past and combine it with the best of today's designs.

For the past three hundred years, the artists of many countries have developed furnishings that fitted their ways of living, and today we can find antiques and fine reproductions that suit us, selecting the best from these various countries to give us satisfying interiors. But with this wide selection, let us consider what styles are the best to combine, the styles that are compatible.

If you wish an informal mood, consider provincial pieces from France and rugged, country pieces from our own Early American Colonies. Spice this with a few painted pieces of furniture from France, or a Pennsylvania Dutch painted chest. For accessories, both traditional and modern pottery and metal objects in brass, copper and pewter may be used. Rough textured fabrics and vivid colored prints fit into this mood.

For a more rugged effect, 17th century Spanish or Mexican designs combine well with 17th century English Oak furniture. Oriental rugs are at home with these styles. Wool embroideries, or peasant prints would be interesting, with the hand crafted look of pottery, dull metals, and heavy, thick hand blown glass accessories. (Continued next week)

Bulletins for MPC 6-week summer session are now available

Brochures listing some 56 courses to be offered during the 1966 summer session are now available at Monterey Peninsula College.

They may be picked up in the administration building on campus or obtained by mail by writing the summer session dean at the college, 980 Fremont, Monterey.

A six-week summer session, day and evening, will run from June 20 through July 29. An eight-week session, with daytime classes only, will end August 12.

Daytime classes in the six-week session will be offered in the fields of art, botany, business, chemistry, drama, economics, engineering, English, foreign languages (French and Spanish), health, history, home economics, mathematics, music, philosophy, physical education (swimming, golf and tennis), physics, political science, psychology, speech and sociology.

Evening classes will be offered in the fields of aviation, business, business data processing, drama, electronics, music and political science.

The eight-week session, with classes meeting daily, will feature classes in typing, shorthand, stenotype and mathematics.

Registration for the summer sessions will be held on three days: Wednesday, June 15, and Thursday, June 16, from 1 to 4 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m., and Saturday, June 18, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Many classes have limited enrollment and early registration is recommended. No registration will be permitted after Tuesday, June 21.

A San Jose State College extension course—Social Science 101—will also be offered at MPC during the summer, as will a workshop for school cafeteria personnel. Information on both may be obtained at the college.

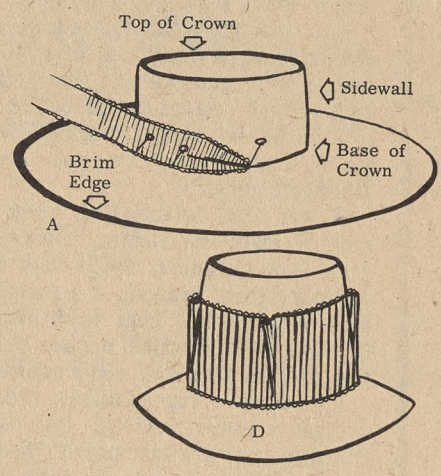

Hang on to Your Hat!

By ELSIE WALTERS

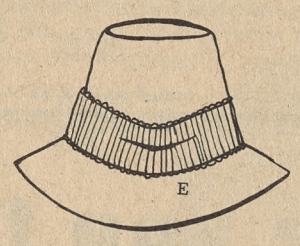

CROWN BANDS

Crown bands are fastened to the sidewall of the crown at the bottom edge only (where the brim, if any, joins onto the crown). This can be a slip stitch under the ribbon or a small stitch on the edge of the band, taking it clear through the crown. When wider bands are used they may be fitted in several ways.

It must be remembered that one or many bands of fabric attached to the sidewall of the crown can be used. This method also applies to fold trimming over an entire hat, usually without a brim.

Wide ribbon is fitted (wrong side out) to a slant sidewall with darts, which may be machine stitched, cut open and pressed on wrong side, then reversed on sidewall and sewn at base of crown. If you choose, you may use darts on right side for decoration . . Illustration 3, Diagram D.

If you are using a wide ribbon on a slant sidewall, it is necessary to take horizontal tuck opposite join to create tension at the top, which will give it a smooth fit on sidewall (Illustration 3, Diagram E).

Unless a double-faced ribbon is used, gathers (stitches) in four evenly spaced places will provide the tension needed to fit the top edge of the band (Illustration 3, Diagram F).

School District music students to perform

A program of representative performing groups from the Carmel Unified School District will be given on Thursday, May 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the Carmel High School gymnasium.

The performing groups include: a combined choir from Tularcitos and Captain Cooper schools directed by Gene Perine; a string ensemble, a wind ensemble, an orchestra from the elementary and middle schools, and a high school string ensemble, all directed by Sharon Jones; The Middle School choir and a high school glee club directed by William Purdy; a middle school band directed by J. W. Larson; and a combined 3rd and 4th grade choir and the High School Choir and Band directed by John Farr.

In addition to individual performances, the massed ensemble will perform a setting of the hymn, "Praise the Lord," titled "Canticle of Praise" and a setting of the patriotic air "America, the Beautiful," titled "From Sea to Shining Sea."

The public is cordially invited to this free demonstration of the growth of the performing music groups in the Carmel schools.

Is it an art gallery?

Is it a theatre?

Is it a restaurant?

No, it's a PG&E substation.

Our new Larkin Substation in San Francisco is so attractive it confuses people. From the outside, its contemporary architecture, landscaping and illuminated walls give it the inviting air of a place to eat or shop or see a movie. But inside is a collection of heavy duty electric equipment—switches, transformers, circuit breakers—to provide homes like yours with electricity.

Elsewhere, we are landscaping and fencing substations, installing low-silhouette equipment and offering streamlined and underground distribution service. Our Architectural Review Committee makes a constant study of new concepts and techniques. Whenever possible, our engineers, designers and landscape consultants do their best to make PG&E a good neighbor in appearance as well as in fact.

The Rhyming Philosopher

When there's a problem to be solved, there's plenty of authorities
In pubs and clubs and barber shops, in forums and sororities.
The farmer gets his best advice from folks who never saw a cow;
And when you build a house, its nice to have your neighbors tell you how.
The way to manage city hall is easy outside looking in;
And so-called experts have a ball deciding how the team can win.
Civilians run the wars today and tell the soldiers when to fire;
And from three thousand miles away
they tell the farmers whom to hire.
So give three cheers for expertize, for know-it-alls who rock the boat.
The rest can just apologize and keep our heads to stay afloat.

Nancy Porter becomes bride of Lin Eldridge

A perfect day of sunshine and gentle breezes marked the wedding of Nancy Porter and Lin Geary Eldridge, April 30.

Nancy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Porter of Country Club Drive, became the bride of Lin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Eldridge of Seattle and Palm Springs, at an afternoon ceremony at All Saint's Church in Carmel.

Nancy is a graduate of Carmel High School and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at University of California at Santa Barbara.

Lin went to the Harvard School in Los Angeles and graduated from University of Washington where he was a member of Psi Upsilon fraternity.

The bride wore a traditional wedding gown of peau de soie encrusted with re-embroidered Alencon lace which formed scallops around a scoop neckline and continued to the glove point sleeves. A panel of lace carried the design into the bodice and skirt. A chapel train was formed by the draped overskirt. Her fingertip veil of English illusion was held by a double bow of peau, matching the gown. Nancy carried a casade of gardinias and stephenosis. Patricia (Patsy) Porter served as her sister's maid of honor while Mrs. Milton Marquard was matron of honor. Other attendants were Miss Randi Ayers of Carmel Valley, Mrs. Aruthur Eldridge of Palm Springs, Miss Susan Fletcher of Pacific Palisades and Miss Tina Nelson of Santa Barbara. The bridesmaids were all gowned in Empire style floor length dresses of yellow linen with Venise lace trimming the bodice and sleeves. Each carried a free-flowing cascade of yellow daisies.

Lin's best man was his brother, Arthur Eldridge of Palm Springs. His other attendants were Milton (Skip) Marquard of Carmel Valley, Michael Marquard of Oakland, James Threlkeld of Westwood, Norman Spencer of Seattle and Donald DeLong of Palm Springs.

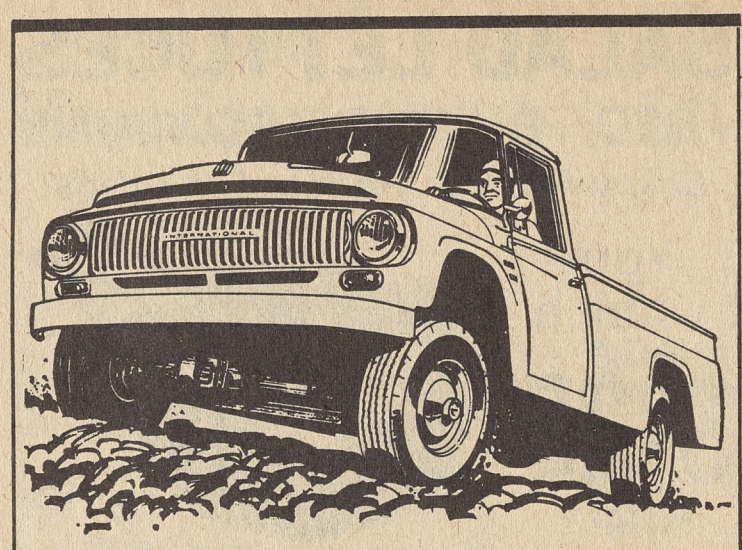

A reception at Del Monte Lodge followed the ceremony, after which the young couple left for a honeymoon in Hawaii. They will return to Palm Springs to make their home.
